

We need your input on the 2023 Draft SCORP!

A draft of the 2023 Statewide Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan (SCORP) is now available online at AZStateParks.com/SCORP. Please help us ensure that the final document is inclusive of all needs and perspectives by providing your feedback on this draft by August 31, 2022.

Every five years, the National Park Service requires Arizona State Parks and Trails to update the SCORP to gather information and recommendations that guides in the acquisition, development and management of Arizona outdoor recreation sites and to provide more and improved outdoor recreation opportunities across the state by both governmental and non-governmental recreation providers. Since summer 2021, Arizona State Parks and Trails has been in discussions with outdoor recreation stakeholders and conducting surveys with Arizonans and recreation providers to inform this draft.

The plan reveals what activities Arizonans engage in outdoors, what their needs are, whether these needs are being met, and also identifies outdoor recreation issues and priorities. The plan includes suggested goals, objectives and strategies to address the identified priorities. These priorities influence the distribution of the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) and other state grant funds to support the plan's recommendations and guide other resource allocation decisions and actions across agencies.

Arizona State Parks and Trails has completed this draft 2023 SCORP in collaboration with Arizona State University and Partners in Brainstorms.
